If you have attained any personal goals...something you wanted for yourself from this project...please let us know.

I just wanted to find a group of people that shared my passion for storytelling, and I also learned more about religions other than my own, such as Christianity, Judaism, and the Islamic faith.

If there is anything that made this a particularly valuable experience for you please let us know.

Getting to know the other teenagers in the group was an experience I will keep for as long as I live. It felt so pleasant listening to their stories. This experience also encouraged me to reach out and to not be afraid from telling stories of my own.
